Quit Politicking And Get Down To Task, Ike Implores Congress

Dems Reply To Message By President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower appealed to the Democratic-controlled Congress Tuesday to pass up politicking and get down to legislating for all America in these closing months of the election year session.

"Too great a preoccupation with events of an election year could seriously impede constructive effort," Eisenhower said in a special message.

"We should jointly resolve that the shortness of time and political rivalries will not be allowed to prevent us from serving the American people effectively."

Democrats on Capitol Hill greeted the above-politics tone of Eisenhower's message with who-does-he-think-he's-kidding skepticism. "This speech—it's called a message but I call it a speech—seems to be the Republican platform," House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said.

Other Democrats accused Eisenhower of using a double standard in urging more foreign aid spending but a tighter curb on spending at home. But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois praised Eisenhower's message as "an earnest appeal for a cooperative effort."

One On Credit Side
Eisenhower credited Congress with one major accomplishment in four months of work so far—passage of a new civil rights bill. But even here, the President chided Congress for rejecting certain of his recommendations.

The President plugged hard—as he did in a nationally broadcast speech Monday night—for his four-billion-dollar foreign aid program which he called imperative to the nation's security.

He asked anew for a farm bill to cope with the problem of mounting crop surpluses, particularly wheat.

While Eisenhower listed a whole group of proposals ranging from more federal judges to a "moderate" increase in the $1-an-hour minimum wage, the only really new one was in the field of health care for the elderly.

The President said Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming on Wednesday will unfold "a new program which will enable older people truly in need of help to meet the calamity of catastrophic illness."

Private Health Insurance
Without going into detail, he indicated this politically significant plan will be built around private health insurance, with federal and state sharing of the costs.

What raised Democratic hackles highest was Eisenhower's admonition that "we must resist the temptation, this or any year, to over spend the taxpayer's hard-earned dollars."

The President noted that proposals now before congressional committees would, if approved, "raise our spending by tens of billions of dollars in 1961 and would disrupt federal budgets over the next five years by many scores of billions."

At a news conference, Rayburn said Eisenhower "acts as though he thinks every bill introduced in Congress is going to pass."

On the contrary, Rayburn told newsmen, Congress so far has cut 244 million dollars from Eisenhower's recommendations.

$566 Less Than Last Year

Chest Sets Budget At $86,944

By Bobby Westbrook
THE MONROE County Community Chest held the line on its 1960-61 budget at the meeting last night when directors approved a budget of $86,944 for the 12-member agencies. This is $566 less than last year's budget but it is also $3,173 above the amount subscribed last year.

The vote followed the recommendations of the budget committee which held hearings last week with all of the member agencies presenting their requests and going over the budgets to pare them down to a bare minimum, reducing the requests by some $6,856.

The board, meeting at Wyc-koff's Tearoom with Glen Sanborn Jr. presiding, considered each agency separately. In cases where there is a wide discrepancy between the amount requested and the amount granted, certain budget items were disallowed as being in the nature of capital expenses.

In two cases where the amount requested was less than last year—the Children's Aid Society and the Girl Scouts—the difference was due to the fact that they have at present no executive secretaries.

The agencies and the amounts approved are as follows:

Boy Scouts were allocated $8,700, an increase of $700 over last year but less than the $11,704 requested.

Child Health Committee, $1,800, the same amount as last year and the same amount requested.

Children's Aid Society, $8,933 approved with $9,333 requested as contrasted with the $11,000 received last year.

General Hospital asked for and received the same amount as last year, $12,500.

The Girl Scouts received their request of $4,435 which was less than $5,332 allocated last year.

The Guidance Center asked for and received $3,600, which is $600 more than last year.

The Mental Health Assn. asked for and received the same amount as last year, $1,200.

The Pennsylvania Citizen's Assn. which had asked for $500 was allotted $100.

The Salvation Army received an allotment of $13,500, which is $500 more than last year but less than the $15,400 they requested.

The USO, which had asked for $1,652, was allotted $500 on the basis of $1 for every man from the county estimated to be now in service.

There was no change in the request or the allocation for the Visiting Nurse Assn. which was $6,000.

Monroe County YMCA also received the same amount as last year, $13,500.

The administrative costs of the Community Chest were raised from $6,610 to $7,157 and the campaign costs from $4,688 to $4,739.

The contingency fund was maintained at $1,000.

Interest Apportioned
That contingency fund, designed for dire emergencies, provided one bright spot for member agencies.

As President Sanborn pointed out, the fact that Monroe County failed to reach its quota by some $2,825 or 3 1/2 percent of the total last year could not be termed a "dire emergency," but it would work hardship on member agencies if the deficit were apportioned to each of them.

With the unanimous approval of the board, it was voted to use accrued interest from the contingency fund which will be sufficient to give each agency practically its full amount for this fiscal year.

A vote of appreciation was given to chairman, Maxwell Cohen, and the members of the budget committee: Alex Bessinger, Robert Davenport, Martin Ellsweiz, Irving Foltz, Elwood German, Clifford Lambert, Gerald Possinger, George Rung, Paul Whelan, Mrs. Gilbert Barthold, Mrs. Howard Eckert, Miss Julia Seig, Chester Miller and Walter Wyckoff.

Cooperate With Agencies
The board of directors also spent several hours discussing provisions which have been drawn up to tighten the cooperation between the Chest and its member agencies through "contracts of agreement."

These contracts provide that no independent fund campaigns be conducted by member agencies without the approval of the Chest, and that the Chest be consulted before any campaigns for capital funds are launched.

The contracts of agreement have been signed by all of the member agencies with the exception of the Boy Scouts and the Salvation Army where negotiations are being continued by a committee headed by Maxwell Cohen to resolve a few points still at issue.

Purpose of the agreements, Sanborn pointed out, is to provide maximum protection to all 12 agencies through raising the funds which have been allocated to them by the Chest.

There's a commercial gimmick in almost everything on TV, he said, and "I think you have reached a point where this most important means of communication will be subverted."

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) scoffed at the idea that television's faults are the faults of youth.

"How can it be so young and have so many bad habits?" Moss asked.

There's a commercial gimmick in almost everything on TV, he said, and "I think you have reached a point where this most important means of communication will be subverted."

Rep. William L. Springer (R-Ill.) suggested TV programming needs an inquiry all its own.

He criticized ABC's replacing the Firestone Hour of music with Bourbon Street Beat—"one of the worst programs I ever saw."

Goldenson said stiff competition dictated the change.

Anyhow, he said the quality of programming is getting better all the time. For example, he said ABC plans to dramatize the histories written by Winston Churchill, and also has arranged for a series of science shows to be tied in with school classes.

Moss told Goldenson that the Federal Communications Commission hasn't laid down exact ground rules for television, but "there are certain precise, ethical standards which have been nicely ignored by the industry itself."

Study Report
It was decided to issue the preliminary statement because of unusual interest generated by a decision to have Bell and other large utilities augment annual reports with quarterly statements, the five commission members explained.

The commissioners said they will take action, if necessary, after their study of the report is completed.

The commission said the report is now available for public inspection, as others will be after the regulatory agency's staff has an opportunity to check them.

The report showed total Bell revenue for the 12-month period of 493 1/2 million dollars and net income of $63,100,000. Of these amounts, $340,100,000 total and $54,400,000 net were attributed to its intra-state operations. The PUC jurisdiction is limited to intra-state service.

All-Or-Nothing Accord With Russia West's Aim

ISTANBUL (AP)—The Western Big Three pledged to their NATO partners Tuesday they will seek an all-or-nothing understanding with the Soviet Union to end the global cold war at the summit.

No piecemeal settlements would really relax East-West tension, it was agreed.

Turkish tanks stood guard at the far end of the plaza from the new city hall where the 15 foreign ministers of the NATO council met and reached these conclusions.

But only one incident marred an otherwise quiet day. The city is under martial law as a result of student demonstrations demanding that Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes' government restore political freedoms.

Fifty students assembled for an antigovernment parade near Taksim Square in the heart of the city but troops with bayonets levelled moved in and dispersed them before they could form ranks.

The army was taking no chances. Troops patrolled the streets in three rows after the 8 p.m. curfew and heavy tanks rumbled to ancient Dolmabahce Palace where the NATO ministers were at a banquet.

These were the highlights of the NATO Council session as related by senior authorities:

Rights intact

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville assured their allies any stoppage deal arranged by President Eisenhower and the summit chiefs on Berlin will leave Western rights intact. Otherwise, they promised, there will be no deal with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the summit meeting in Paris.

Herter, Lloyd and Couve de Murville stressed they will demand that the Soviets quit trying to upset governments such as those of West Germany, Greece and Iran—if a detente really is wanted. Detente is a French word widely used by diplomats to mean relaxation of tension.

As a sort of slogan the Allies resolved that the Soviets must be told any East-West detente must be indivisible.

Chessman's Body Cremated; Letter Views Delinquency

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—The body of Caryl Chessman, one of the most articulate criminals ever executed, was cremated Tuesday without religious ceremony.

The convict-author's body became ashes soon after publication of a letter, written in his final hours, telling his views on the problem of juvenile delinquency.

The letter, started on his death row typewriter and finished in longhand shortly before he died Monday in San Quentin's gas chamber, was addressed to Mary Crawford, San Francisco News-Call Bulletin reporter.

Writing of his life as a "violent young psychopath" and his futile 12-year fight to escape execution, Chessman's letter asked:

"How could he have been changed from an angry, undisciplined young man, filled with mistrust of the world and even himself, into a useful citizen?"

"In larger context, where and how are we failing those we call juvenile delinquents?"

There is no easy answer, Chessman wrote, but he declared: "I believe that so long as we seek a negative answer with punishment, deluding ourselves with the witless fiction that punishment per se is either a correction or a cure, we will continue to see the problem get worse."

Chessman argued that externally applied repression only increases the pressures inside young humans—their conflicts, anxieties, wants, hopes and dreams.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's participation in the national civil defense test generally was excellent and in most places was the best ever, Civil Defense officials reported Tuesday night.

C. D. Test Successful, Says Reese

"YESTERDAY'S test was a generally effective in this area, although there were the usual few spots where no cooperation was given," said C. Marshall Reese, Monroe County Civil Defense director in evaluating operation alert 1960.

Reese said traffic for the most part came to a halt and most pedestrians observed the warning by going to the nearest shelter. Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg were both notable through a lack of traffic on their main traffic arteries.

Reports on Conrad—the CD radio network for the civilian population—showed the Stroudsburgs were well served, said Reese, but the outlying sections received the broadcasts, "poorly," he added.

The test, nationwide in its scope, was the only test to cover the entire country.

Following the test for the county, local CD officials were then given problems involving theoretical attacks on parts of the United States, and the county CD unit's job was to find shelter and supply the needs for 28,000 refugees from parts of the eastern seaboard who were bombed out.

The simulated attack, Reese said, came in two waves, with three bombs dropped during the first wave, and 23 the second time.

Under these conditions, the county CD unit had to transmit emergency messages, and more importantly, plot the fallout from the 26 bombs which struck the vital targets set up by the problems.

Jointure Starts Work On School

SWIFTWATER—Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Pocono Mountain Junior-Senior Joint High School were held yesterday at 11 a.m. at the site of the building.

Approximately 75 persons witnessed the ceremony when Dr. Anthony Bohn, president of the Joint School Committee, along with four-year-old Roy Ponder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seldon Ponder, Mount Pocono, representing the future youth to occupy the building, turned the symbolic shovel of earth.

Attending also were Rev. James F. Mort, chairman of the Building Authority; Harry J. Drennan, first president of the jointure; C. Willis Dunlap, supervising principal of the jointure; John C. Litts, superintendent of county schools, and Walter H. Sebring, assistant superintendent of county schools.

Contractors and sub-contractors were also present at the affair.

Immediately following the ceremony, actual work started on the construction.

The building, to cost slightly over $1,800,000, will serve the Borough of Mount Pocono, and the townships of Barrett, Coolbaugh, Jackson, Paradise, Pocono, Tobyhanna and Tunkhannock, and is scheduled for completion for classes in September of 1961.

Vote Machine Expected To Show Totals

ONLY A remote possibility exists that the voting machine in East Stroudsburg's First Ward will fail to show the vote totals as cast there on the question of legalizing pari-mutuel betting in Monroe County.

This was emphasized yesterday by election officials as the County Election Board neared the completion of its count of votes polled in the April 26 primaries.

Unofficial returns showed the harness race track issue was turned down by the county by a 78-vote margin. Still to be counted are upwards of 39 absentee and military ballots.

Omission Of Count
The East Stroudsburg question came up when the unofficial and official tabulation sheets submitted by the First Ward Election Board showed no totals, the county commissioners said, for either side on the pari-mutuel referendum.

The commissioners, serving as the County Election Board, were unable, therefore, to certify the vote as official. Solicitor Leo Achtermann explained.

The board had phoned in totals of 101 yes and 175 no votes on election night, and election officials expressed little doubt yesterday that these figures would be substantiated when the voting machine is opened Friday at 9:30 a.m.

The machine, located in the East Stroudsburg State College Campus Laboratory School, was locked as required by law and officials said there was only a very "slim likelihood" that the votes as cast would not still be recorded on the totaling mechanism.

The county commissioners said Monday they regarded the board's failure to report the pari-mutuel vote as an oversight which will be cleared up Friday morning.

The absentee vote will be counted Friday and included in the final tabulation of votes to be announced for the county at 10 a.m.

Bette Davis Sues Mate
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Bette Davis has sued actor Gary Merrill for divorce in Portland, Maine, the Herald-Express said Tuesday.

The action was filed last Thursday, the newspaper account said. The couple married in Juarez, Mexico, July 29, 1959. They have three children, Barbara, 12, Margaret, 8, and Michael, 7.

They have had several previous spats, but always have reconciled. Miss Davis reportedly is in seclusion at nearby Laguna Beach. Merrill is working in a movie and had no comment.

Lawrence Sees Likely Deadlock
LONDON (AP)—Pennsylvania's Democratic governor sees the party's presidential nominating convention as heading toward a deadlock.

And in that case, anything can happen. The nomination would be wide open.

This was the view expressed Tuesday night by Gov. David L. Lawrence, here on a European holiday.

Lawrence asserted in an interview that the Pennsylvania delegation, one of the largest in the party, is "strictly neutral" in the present scramble for the nomination. Himself a Roman Catholic, Lawrence said he would like to see Sen. John F. Kennedy win.

15 Words Seen Solving Major Share Of Problems

FIFTEEN words which could solve 95 percent of the problems of the hotel and restaurant managers were presented at an afternoon session at the Pocono Mountains Hotel and Restaurant Show being held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Dr. S. Earl Thompson, head of the department of hotel and institution administration of the Pennsylvania State University pointed out that most of the problems of management arise through lack of communication with other people: whether employees or customers.

A dramatic illustration of the difficulties of communication was presented when Frank Belletti, vice president of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Restaurant Assn., was put behind a screen to describe a drawing which the audience tried to duplicate.

Some pretty weird results followed, improving as he faced the audience and answered questions; and improving still more when he showed them the drawing.

Dr. Thompson advocated spoken instructions which permits two-way communication, reinforced by appearance and action. He gave the following ground rules:

Have Something
Don't speak unless you have something to say.
Know what action you expect to follow (The man who reprimands an employee publicly is relieving his own feelings not seeking to correct behavior).
Organize what you have to say and relate it to the interests and needs of the audience. Seek to convey ideas not make an impression.
Make it a two-way conversation, listening as well as talking.
Don't try to sell something you don't believe in yourself.
The 15 words, used often, which he urged his audience to test were:
"I am proud of you."
"What is your opinion?"
"If you please."
"Thank you," and
"We."

Family Film Tonight At S-burg Church

"THE Mark of the Hawk," a Superscope, Technicolor film starring Eartha Kitt, Sidney Poitier, John McIntire, and Juana Hernandez, will be shown at the First Presbyterian Church, Stroudsburg, on Wednesday at 7:00 p.m.

Released by Universal-International, this film was granted the Family Medal Award by Parents' Magazine, and has been shown commercially throughout the United States.

The story takes place in an unidentified south African country. Sidney Poitier takes the part of an African elected a member of the legislative council. Eartha Kitt is his wife. Three Christian ministers—an African, an American, and an Indian give witness to the fellowship of the church which reaches across boundaries of politics, race and color.

The action takes place in a time of terrorism when some misguided colonialists attempt to meet violence with violence. The public is invited.

NE Development Council Gets All Reports

HAZLETON — The Northeast Pennsylvania Industrial Development Commission lost little time in enlisting the aid of a Washington committee which visited the area last week to push the federal Bureau of Public Roads to "speed-up" regional highway construction programs.

The NPIDC specifically asks Commerce Under Secretary Phillip Ray, chairman of the Inter-Departmental Committee on Coordinating Urban Area Assistance Programs, to confer with the heads of the Bureau of Public Roads within his own department to push construction of the roads.

Mentioned specifically were the Keystone Shortway, Penn-Can Highway, Anthracite Expressway and other "regional" federally-aided highways under planning which are developed to provide maximum transportation resources to assure the location of new industry and expansion of existing industry.

The appeal of Under Secretary Ray, who headed the visit last week, was made by Victor C. Diehm, Hazleton, NPIDC president, and Bernard B. Blier, Scranton, the unit's executive director.

Highway Support

Highway support was one of the major points brought to the federal committee's attention during their visits to Carbon-dale, Scranton, Pittston, Wilkes-Barre, Hazleton, Lansford, Tamaqua and Pottsville.

Under Secretary Ray asked NPIDC to write him directly concerning this vital highway speed-up. The letter is the first in a series of formal appeals which the commission will address to the special committee.

In addition to Under Secretary Ray, the federal committee was made up of Dr. Henry Wallich, one of President Eisenhower's economic advisers; Victor Roterus, chief of the Commerce Department's Area Development Office; Dewey Coates, Department of Labor consultant; David Jamieson, Philadelphia, regional Commerce Department director, and Irving Kramer, Committee secretary.

Lighting Improvement For E-Burg

BURGESS Jesse R. S. Flory last night cast the deciding vote in favor of a $2,282.40 street lighting improvement program during a meeting of East Stroudsburg Borough Council.

The program, urged upon by members of the East Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn., calls for expenditures of $751.80 on N. Courtland St. from the business district to Lackawanna Ave.; $198 on S. Courtland St. between Washington and Brown Sts.; $754.20 on Brown and Ridgeway Sts., and $578.40 on Prospect St. from Ridgeway St. to the interchange on the Stroudsburgs Thruway.

Flory voted for the proposal after a roll call vote of council resulted in a three-three tie.

Voting for the proposal were Councilmen Pearley D. Hunt, Roy F. Lloyd and J. Wade Arnst. Against it were Councilmen Charles W. Buehler and Mrs. Ann M. Travis and Council President Harold A. Wiggins.

Wiggins, opening the discussion, said that the length of time required to obtain and install new lights means that the program will not mean an increase in taxes this year, but will necessitate a raise in millage next year.

Wiggins said the lighting program is "not an emergency and not a necessity" and said he felt, "there's a limit to what the taxpayers can pay," citing an estimated heavy tax burden for school purposes.

School Taxes Cited

Mrs. Travis also cited increased school taxes in her argument against adopting the program. Flory, asked to vote on the measure by Wiggins after the tie, said he is also opposed to increasing taxes.

"But," he said, "I have found out that sometimes postponing necessary improvements causes more trouble than if they had been done when they were first needed."

Council referred to its street committee a petition signed by 47 merchants in the Washington and Crystal Sts. area protesting traffic conditions there.

The petitioners complained that customers "can't get onto the street and can't get off it." They particularly cited the traffic light at Washington and Courtland Sts. which they said permits only three cars to make

Protect Little Fellow

Business reports deal so generally with the operation of gigantic corporations that it has become easy to overlook two significant facts in America's economic pattern.

Government surveys made in 1959 show that 85 percent of U.S. businesses are unincorporated. They are not big giants at all.

Secondly, these same surveys show that one-third of the American working force is employed in firms with fewer than 50 employees.

Each of these facts is a tribute to private initiative, and each makes a vital contribution to national prosperity.

We would be in a sorry situation if we were to undermine the incentives of private enterprise and initiative in this great country.

Ike Forgot His Own Words

"The right, the highest privilege, the duty of every citizen is to vote."

The same man also said:

"We can have unlimited faith in America as long as America will express itself. The thing I should like to see is that every American votes."

President Dwight D. Eisenhower issued a little statement, with these brave words, back in another election year when he was on the ballot.

Last Tuesday, President Eisenhower, a registered voter in Adams County, did not vote in Pennsylvania's primary election.

An early White House announcement said that the press of business would make it impossible for the President to make the short and familiar trip to Gettysburg to vote. (Under a new election law, the President could have voted by absentee ballot. Many Pennsylvanians did.)

A later announcement reported the President played golf at Burning Tree, Election Day afternoon.

What was it some man said once about deeds and not just words?

Perhaps it's no wonder that Pennsylvania had a light voter turnout Tuesday. If the President of the United States won't bother to vote, how can ordinary citizens be expected to go to the polls?

Elliott In Limelight

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — As noted in this column yesterday primary elections as a rule are not generally conducive to the development of trends in the party system.

But perhaps a more significant tip-off race during the primary was found in another special congressional election—that of the eighteenth district, embracing Bedford, Franklin, Fulton, Huntingdon, Mifflin, Snyder, Somerset and Union Counties—where a successor was selected to fill the unexpired term of the late Congressman Richard M. Simpson.

It was in this race the unexpected developed—clear and amazingly concise.

It wasn't so much that Republican Candidate Douglas H. Elliott, of Chambersburg, munched to defeat his Democratic opponent, Robert M. Meyers, of Lewisport, but more important the manner of defeat and the implications therefrom.

The outcome of the fracas a week ago is viewed in such light around Capitol Hill now as to place young (38) Douglas Elliott in sporting competition as a potential 1962 GOP gubernatorial candidate!

Here is what happened in the Elliott versus Meyers battle:

Of some 74,000 votes cast in the district, Douglas Elliott emerged with a majority of about 17,000—or a majority of nearly one-fourth of the total votes cast.

In the 1956 election—a presidential year that saw Republican Dwight Eisenhower returned for a second term and which carried with it a coattail swing for GOP candidates everywhere—the then incumbent, venerable and respected Congressman Richard M. Simpson who had been in Congress since 1937, wound up with a majority of just about one-fifth of the total 130,013 votes cast.

But—in his race two years previously in 1954, when the late Mr. Simpson opposed Mr. Meyers (defeated last week by Mr. Elliott) GOP candidate Simpson emerged with a majority not quite one-ninth of the total 105,422 votes cast that year.

Mr. Elliott a week ago on the other hand considerably exceeded the gain of his predecessor in defeating the same Democratic candidate!

The important point in all this now is that winner Elliott has been placed in what is generally regarded around Capitol Hill as one of the most favorable positions possible for the gubernatorial nod just two years hence!

A short four years ago he broke into the statewide picture by winning a first term as a state senator. Within that space of time he has become regarded as one of the more personable members of the younger GOP element in Pennsylvania.

Good looking (as politicians go), blessed with excellent poise and endowed apparently with an affinity to get along with almost anyone, he has the knack of being able to work with opposing factions—yet at the same time enjoys a mind of his own.

Vice-President of Wilson College (for girls) in Chambersburg, and himself a graduate of the University of Virginia, his personal record, including Navy service during World War II, is regarded as politically enhancing as his political record itself.

Last Tuesday's primary indeed may have had its exceptions!

There are dissenters on the Right and dissenters on the Left. Senator Barry Goldwater and Senator Wayne Morse or Senator Jacob Javits are dissenters of stature. Whoever picked this gang did not know America, but I shall give you more of this.

Clark might have found serious dissenters such as Earl Browder, the former Communist leader, James Wechsler, editor of the "New York Post," Herblock, the cartoonist of "The Washington Post," William F. Buckley, Jr., editor of "National Review," and Ward Bond, the actor, of "Wagon Train."

Part of this has been recorded in the case of the special congressional run-off in the seventeenth congressional district where Republican Herman T. Schneebell nudged Democratic opponent Robert M. Meyers.

'Lest We Forget'

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

The annual Hotel and Restaurant Show at the Penn-Stroud Hotel is like Barnum said, "Bigger and better than ever."

With a record throng showing up for the inaugural and second days of the three-day event, co-chairmen Bill Altier and Frank Belleteri and Ted Jenkins can pat themselves on the back for a job well done.

Of course the efficient female hands of Mrs. Marion Meyers had a big part in rounding the 11th spectacular into shape. Without Marion the show wouldn't have that certain female touch which always adds to the beauty of the affair.

The opening night brought out Monroe's finest. Such well known personalities as Van D. Yetter and his missus headed a host of popular folks who worked their way through the first nighters.

Hotelmen from near and far were seen talking over old times and prospects of new ventures in the resort world.

Huddling in one of the corners were Paul Azure, Fran Shinn and Jack Shinn. Others walking about were Fred Waring, Loren Batchelor and Eric Danish.

Eric Schuchard, the host for the extravaganza, was his usual smiling self as he met and talked with the masses.

Today the show closes with the fanfare of the queen's bugles. Highlighting the event will be fashion exhibition for midday and his honor. Naturally the booths will be open again for inspection before the show turns into a memory.

However the fond dreams that come from the 11th annual show will be thought of by the detailed job performed by Jenkins, Altier, Belleteri and Mrs. Meyers.

Good looking (as politicians go), blessed with excellent poise and endowed apparently with an affinity to get along with almost anyone, he has the knack of being able to work with opposing factions—yet at the same time enjoys a mind of his own.

Vice-President of Wilson College (for girls) in Chambersburg, and himself a graduate of the University of Virginia, his personal record, including Navy service during World War II, is regarded as politically enhancing as his political record itself.

Interpreting The News

Democracies Intervene Cautiously

By J. M. Roberts

Associated Press News Analyst

The free world is facing the question of whether and when to intervene in the affairs of associated countries if their internal political policies threaten the world standing of democracy.

The United States and Britain have both intervened at times since the war in the affairs of such countries as South Africa, South Korea, Guatemala, Greece and others.

Yet they have adhered in general to a nonintervention policy conforming to the United Nations charter.

In Africa, however, the United States has taken a stand against the South African government's policy, and is trying to influence developing governments in the new states.

The issue is involved in the uses to which developing countries put American financial aid. At some points it runs a-twart the interests of some of America's allies.

Britain has been officially more hesitant and unofficially tougher toward South Africa than has the United States.

But this week the members of the Commonwealth, a unique politico-economic organization which has evolved through association of former members of the British Empire, are meeting in London.

Barrett Twp. Concert Set For Friday

BARRETT—The annual concert by the choirs of the Barrett Twp. Consolidated School will be held on Friday night at 8 at the Barrett High School.

Both the high school choir and elementary choir will sing and there will also be solo numbers. The elementary choir has been chosen to sing in Philadelphia next October for the Pennsylvania School Directors Assn. Convention.

The public is invited and tickets may be obtained at the door.

Ronson Corp. Shareholders Get Payoff

"DIVERSIFICATION has paid off for Ronson."

So Ronson shareholders were told by Louis V. Ronson II, president of the Ronson Corp. at the annual shareholders meeting held yesterday in New York. Ronson said: "Both the fourth quarter of 1959 and the first quarter of 1960 showed new all time sales highs for the quarters."

He predicted that if the United States economy remains at its recent level, Ronson's 1960 sales should exceed $40,000,000—with first half sales slightly in excess of $16,000,000 and second half sales approximately $24,000,000.

He pointed out that when Ronson's basic lighter patents expired in June 1952, lighters represented approximately 88 percent of Ronson's sales volume. The remaining percentage was comprised primarily of Ronson accessories.

Today, as a result of Ronson's diversification moves, Ronson lighter sales account for only 34 percent of its total volume, with appliances, (electric shavers, hair dryers and shoe polishers) sharing 21 percent, lighter accessories (Ronsonol lighter fluid, flints, etc.) 35 percent, non-consumer products (aircraft hydraulic valves and rare earth metals and alloys) seven, and service three.

Aronson said that last year's sales were up over $5,000,000—an increase of 16 percent. Earnings jumped 86 percent—from 54c to $1.01 per share, while inventories decreased 15 percent—over $1,000,000. The pace of increased sales is continuing, he mentioned, as reflected by Ronson's recently released first quarter sales result of $8,207,893—an increase of $1,056,308—15 percent more than 1959's first quarter sales of $7,151,585.

While he did not forecast earnings Aronson indicated that should Ronson's sales forecasts be achieved, the earnings percentage increase should exceed the 10 percent projected sales increase.

Ronson today, he said, is not just interested in growth—but rather in superior growth whereby Ronson's growth rate would be above the national industrial average. It is achieved, he said, through competent management efforts and attention to research, cash flow, and markets.

Ideas For Getting Ideals Done

By Vivian Brown
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WHEN ROBINS chirp and trees come into bloom, men dream of leisure—hammocks in the backyard, fishing from river banks. But women—they dream of home improvements.

A woman's leisure is all involved with picture book ideas—patios, pleasant vistas, chic outdoor living.

The only fly in the ointment is you know whom.

What approach can the lady of the house use to get the home handyman in the mood to fulfill at least one of her dream projects? It will be difficult to sell him an idea if she uses the wrong technique. Nagging won't work. Temper will only bring that light into his eyes that seems to say, "You promised to love honor and obey and keep me from heart attacks."

If the project dearest to your heart is here, try one of these approaches:

The New Patio Pitch . . . "Hon: as soon as we get a little terraced place where we can entertain, I want to get you a new chaise longue. All you need to build it is some brick and a load of sand, and then you just put the little brick in designs, if you like. We can all help, and it'll be done in no time at all."

Plug for a Screened-In-Porch . . . "Wouldn't it be wonderful to eat outdoors all the time without bugs in the potato salad? Mimi Jones says her husband screened-in their porch in a couple of weekends. All you need is some uprights, 2x4s, screens, doors and shingles. She may have been bragging about the length of time it took him to do it, because you're a much better workman any day. Really you are dear."

A Bucolic Scene In the Making . . . "Dear, when you finish terracing the lawn and planting all the new bushes, you should take some time off and go fishing. And you should have some new dry flies to start you off."

Our Very Own Farm . . . "We should get a strip plowed for a garden. The children have never tasted fresh vegetables right out of the soil. I could put up chile sauce, beans, corn and fruit, too, ded, huh dad?"

Dream House . . . "A couple of cans of bright white paint can do wonders for a house. It could turn ours into a little en-

Remodeling May Mean Applying New Shingles

HOME owners whose remodeling plans include a new roof should take advantage of the fact that asphalt shingles can be applied directly over the old roofing material.

Among the merits of this re-roofing technique are:

1. Lower re-roofing costs. When the old material doesn't have to be removed, less labor is required. This results in a lower applied cost of the new roof.
2. Protection in bad weather.

If a sudden storm blows up while the roofers are applying asphalt shingles, the old roof provides a measure of protection to the house and its contents.

3. Neater, faster job. The mess of removing and discarding the old material and the time required to do it are eliminated.

A further advantage of re-roofing with asphalt shingles is that they are available in a wide range of colors.

Contemporary Ranch Home Has Many Extras For Family

A CONTEMPORARY ranch with many extras, this particular floor plan offers an unusual amount of living and entertaining area. Exterior construction materials are brick and stone.

This is a design for those who like lots of living area—in and out!

Double front doors lead into hall containing guest closet, washroom with vanity, stairs to basement and archway to living-dining room featuring studio ceiling. Large living room has a stacked brick corner fireplace. Dining alcove has china cabinet.

Most effective, however, are the two seven-foot sliding glass doors leading to terrace with barbecue grill! You will be proud to entertain your friends in this well planned relaxing area. Terrace has corrugated plastic roof—dramatized with color!

Master bedroom has sliding door access to washroom and a spacious closet. The window placement allows for a convenient furniture arrangement. The other two bedrooms have plenty of light, closets with sliding doors and ample wall space.

Bath with vanity has clothes chute with handy hall access. Notice location of linen closet in hall between front bedrooms—a real convenience.

Built-in range, pantry and ultra-modern work area make the kitchen a model of efficient planning. Adjoining activities room has a first floor automatic laundry along window wall for most advantageous use of daylight. Note, table space near extensive window area facing front porch—no crowding here!

Metal clad fire door opens from activities room into a two-car garage, which has exits to yard and front porch, showing a pleasing Western touch.

This plan conforms to general FHA, VA and Building Code requirements. The plan contains 1,573 sq. ft., 28,884 cu. ft., and 502 sq. ft. for the garage. Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square or cubic foot in your area.

"Complete Building Plan, including Detail Sheet, Material List and Specification Guide for Design No. H-403 may be purchased for $9.75 for 1st set; 2 for $18.25; 3 for $26.15; or 4 for $33.75. ## Houses Need Inspections Same As Human Beings Do

HOUSES, like humans, need a thorough physical examination at least once a year, and spring is an ideal time for it.

Harsh winter weather can bring on many "ailments" around the house. Frost in the ground can damage foundations, extremes in temperatures can open up cracks around windows and doors, and winds may have loosened shutters and television aerials, and caused damage to wires.

The area that deserves the closest inspection is the roof. It takes more punishment from winter ice, snow, rain, wind, and temperature changes than any other part of the house.

The most important flaws to look for in a roof inspection are leaks, especially in a roof that is old and weather-worn. Water can cause serious damage if it seeps structural components. This moisture also can

Kitchen Can Be Done Over At Low Cost

KITCHEN remodeling can be done in stages if your budget is tight. First you must decide what the end result is to be, then work out a plan to fit your family finances. It may take a year or more to reach the final stage, but will be easier to wait for with part of the project already completed.

Since additional space is usually a kitchen-improvement goal, partitions may have to be rearranged or removed to extend the kitchen onto a porch or a new addition. Be sure to have the addition finished, or the porch closed in, before removing an outside wall, so the kitchen will be usable at all times.

A good start toward modernizing your kitchen's appearance and efficiency without making any structural changes is to replace your old refrigerator with a new electric refrigerator-freezer. It will add several cubic feet more food storage space without occupying any more floor area than the old unit. The larger storage area, with special compartments for meat, vegetables, and dairy products and a big freezer section, means fewer trips to the grocery. You'll have your own "supermarket" at home.

Once the new refrigerator-freezer is installed, you'll be able to schedule your cooking at

France Is Turning Modern

By David B. Ottaway

PARIS — Beneath an eternal battleground of political beliefs France is economically ripening for life in a modern world. Behind worn clichés of 20th Century grandeur the country is turning to meet its leaders' challenge.

The year 1960 finds one part of France living in the present age. Another part still is attached to the 19th Century. I speak of the opposition between New and Old France, the backbone of political, economic and social problems of today.

During two weeks of vacation travel in widely separated regions of France, I had the occasion to see something of this opposition.

The first of these two areas was the "Massif Central," located in the center of France. It is the oldest mountain range in the country.

Parisians speak of this region as the lost land of France, scarcely inhabited, backward in way and manner. An American going into this area seems to them sublime folly.

It is predominantly an area of farming and breeding. These occupations have been practiced the same way for centuries. Small plots of land are meticulously kept and cured. The product of family efforts is enough to keep it alive.

Across Countryside
Often family lands will be spread across the countryside so that one plot is miles away from another. One of the most pressing governmental projects is re-arrangement of plots to make possible application of modern farming techniques. But to many peasant minds, in love with the land of their fathers, this idea is insufferable.

The "Massif Central" also is an area where one will meet natives incredibly ignorant of the surrounding territory. While hitch-hiking through the territory, I met several persons who had never heard of sizable towns within 50 kilometers of their homes.

This is, in fact, one of the emergency areas which the government is trying to bring back to 20th Century life. With the never-ceasing push towards Paris and other large cities, few people are left to care for such mountainous regions.

There is charm to Old France, with its picturesque towns of ancient churches and senselessly twisting streets. Tourist trade seems to play a certain factor in the economy of the smallest bourg.

In contrast to this life is that of the war-famous Normandy region. Here, the 10th Century pace has left its mark.

Land exploitations are vast and farm equipment modern. Farmers themselves are organized in cooperatives permitting maximum efficiency and volume of production. More than a quarter of the meat, milk and butter products in France comes from this region.

War Credited
The force in favor of modernization, paradoxical though it may seem, was the war. Reorganization and reconstruction on a major scale were imperative in the post-war years.

Because of extensive destruction and later rebuilding, towns are often some of the most modern in all France. In many cases the loss of art treasures, churches and historic sites is the price paid for modernization.

These two regions stand as symbols of two types of civilization existing simultaneously and often in violent conflict with each other. Old France is dear to many Frenchmen probably because modern France will leave less room for individualism. The price of organization seems to involve certain liberties of the individual.

The Frenchman loves the family lands the ways of his father and grandfather. But he is rallying slowly to modern France as its attractions and benefits become more apparent.

Presently, the farmers and government, together, are taking a good look at the contradiction between Old and New France. In a country where agriculture accounts for a per-

MR. PRESIDENT

by Patrick and Vinmont

ANDREW JACKSON

Born in a frontier settlement on the border of North and South Carolina, March 15, 1767. He early showed the traits of character which earned him the nickname of "Old Hickory" as a military officer. At 14, a captive soldier of the Revolutionary Army, he was scarred for life by the sword of a British officer whose boots he refused to brush; as a rising public official, he fought two duels in defense of his honor.

At 15 he was studying law. Five years later he was admitted to practice. Before he was 29, when he represented Tennessee as its first representative in Congress, he had served as a prosecuting attorney and judge. He resigned his seat in Congress to become judge of the Supreme Court of Tennessee.

His activity as a general in the Tennessee militia, against the Creek Indians, made him a Major General in the regular Army. His exploits against the British at Mobile, at Pensacola, and decisive defeat at New Orleans, gave him national fame. After subduing the Seminole Indians, he was appointed military governor of the Territory of Florida.

Inaugurated the seventh President of the United States, March 4, 1829, he left the office eight years later still a popular figure. He was as commanding, determined and rough in politics as he had been in battle. He forced France to pay claims for attacks on United States commerce during the Napoleonic wars, and gained the respect of other nations toward American rights. He retired to his plantation, the Hermitage, at Nashville, Tenn., where he died June 3, 1845, aged 78.

JOHN CALDWELL CALHOUN

Born in Abbeville, North Carolina, 1782. He graduated from Yale, studied law in Litchfield, Conn. and was admitted to the bar in 1807. At 26 he was a member of the State Legislature and then from 1811-17 a member of the United States Congress. He served as Secretary of War during the two administrations of Monroe, Vice-President of the United States under John Quincy Adams and during Jackson's first term. In disfavor with Jackson in personal and political matters, he resigned, 1832—the only resignation in the history of the Vice-Presidency—and returned to the United States Senate where he served until 1843. He was Secretary of State under President Tyler, 1844-45, and again served in the United States Senate until his death in 1850.

In his earlier years he was strongly nationalistic but turned suddenly to state sovereignty. A foe of the abolitionists, a defender of slavery, his oratory and political philosophy gave the South its best arguments for secession. A most colorful and able public figure, he was known the world over.

Vice-President during Jackson's second term was Martin Van Buren.

MRS. ANDREW J. DONELSON

Andrew Jackson came to the White House a widower. His wife, for nearly forty years, Rachel Donelson, born in Tennessee, 1787, died three months before his inauguration as President in 1829.

Jackson chose as First Lady, Rachel's niece, Mrs. Andrew J. Donelson, a lovely young matron of twenty-one. Born Emily Donelson in Tennessee in 1808, she married her cousin in 1824.

The busiest of hostesses, she presided with unfailing courtesy and graciousness at Jackson's many and crowded social events. To his delight, she kept the mansion filled with lively young relatives. Her four children were born in the White House. Failing in health toward the end of her uncle's tenure, she retired to Tennessee. She died in 1836.

Mixed Emotions

Dear Abby: In a fit of depression I told my sister-in-law a lot of personal things that were troubling me. Now I wish I had kept my mouth shut. There were other people involved (men); some are in the family and some are not.

My sister-in-law is not exactly a gossip but occasionally she lets things "slip out". I have been worried sick over it. When I see some of my relatives or any of the people with whom she is friendly, I have the feeling that they know all about me.

My husband travels and he could just as easily work out of another city. Should I ask him to put in for a transfer?

BLABBERMOUTH

Dear Blabbermouth: Don't

ask your husband to put in for a transfer unless you are prepared to give him a good reason. You would probably be wise to try to put the whole unfortunate incident out of your mind and stay where you are.

Dear Abby: Our 12-year-old son has taken accordion lessons for four years and is quite a good little musician. The problem is this:

When we have guests his father insists that he play for them. The boy does it willingly but if he should make a mistake, his father shouts and humiliates him until the tears fall. The guests are ill at ease and I get sick inside. My husband says if the boy practiced more he would make fewer mistakes. But I know he makes mistakes because he is frightened to death of his father. The child is ready to give up the accordion and I don't blame him. Can you offer some helpful advice?

good. If he can't keep quiet while the boy plays, he should either leave the room or quit asking the boy to entertain the guests.

Dear Abby: A person who is very close to me is now 55 years old. He was recently sent to prison for 15 years. Can he draw his Social Security while he is in prison or not?

MUST KNOW

Dear Must: Social Security benefits to an otherwise qualified person ARE paid while the person is a prison inmate. The checks are mailed in care of the prison. (Of course there may be prison rules with respect to disposition of checks received by inmates.)

Confidential To "In Dutch": Someone once said, "A man is a fool to put anything in writing if he knows how to talk. And he shouldn't talk if he is able to nod or shake his head."

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25c and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

State Dorm Fees Hiked

STUDENTS in the 14 state colleges in Pennsylvania will have their dormitory fee raised September, 1960.

The Board of Presidents of these 14 colleges recommended a $2 weekly increase effective September.

The 1959 General Assembly approved a maximum $3 weekly increase in room rental fees with the individual colleges given discretion over the actual amount of the increase.

Proceeds from this additional revenue will be used to pay for the $35,000,000 dormitory building program now under way on many of the campuses.

Just Between Us —

From Cinderella I switched to the role of one of the ugly step-sisters yesterday. As a matter of fact I could have been both of them more comfortably — not only from the viewpoint of time but also capacity for food at the Hotel Show and the Community Chest dinner.

Anyways, I came away from the hotel show with blotters that swell up when you put them in water, razor blades, and a practically unlimited assortment of key rings emblazoned with advertising slogans. Also potato salad, pie, coffee, orange drink, peanuts, fried chicken, jello, pickles, and frozen fruit, on the inside.

Also some pointers from Dr. Thompson of State College on how to communicate with people. Except you have to stand still long enough to put his precepts into action.

Mr. Belletieri, who served as "stogie" had a little trouble getting himself out of sight behind the screen but no trouble at all getting the point of the lecture, and managed to work in all 15 of the magic words in the speech thanking Dr. Thompson.

The thanks of the Community Chest directors to the budget committee was less extravagant but nevertheless heartfelt. To balance agency needs against the public pocket-book is a thankless task — and often a heart-breaking one. And you can never come out even.

Space is another thing that never comes out even with news, either. But we keep trying.

Portland PTA Honors Scouts

Portland—The Portland Parent-Teachers Assn. program centered around "Hoist the Sails" to welcome members of Girl Scout Troop 61 and 115 and the Boy Scouts Troop 71 of Portland. Each troop had a part in the program.

At the business meeting, the PTA voted to purchase a cook-out set for the Girl Scouts. A cakeless bake sale was planned. Mrs. Carl Beck was installed as vice president, an office left vacant when Mrs. Lewis Wheeler became president when Mrs. Edmund Krause resigned. Mrs. Wheeler presented a past president's pin to Mrs. Ernest Schroeder.

The attendance award was won by Principal Ernest Courtney's seventh grade. Refreshments were served by mothers of Mrs. Ira Dutt's first and second grades.

The flag salute was directed by Linda Reagle.

Missionaries To America Theme Of ULCW Program

Tannersville—The story of the first European Lutheran missionaries to this country was told in a series of readings, led by Cora Sebring, at the meeting of the St. Paul's United Lutheran Church Women at their meeting recently.

The first Lutheran missionary to the Danish colonists along Hudson Bay came in 1619. To help him withstand the rigors of that winter, the settlers killed foxes and used their skins to line his clerical robe.

The next attempt was in New Amsterdam, now New York City where St. Matthew's Church is still in existence. In 1638 Swedish Lutherans settled at Fort Christina, along the Delaware, where a school and church was established and the catechism was first translated into the Indian dialect.

During the 18th century, Philadelphia was the chief port of entry for German Lutherans and by the close of the century 40,000 had settled in Pennsylvania. The first Lutheran Church in Philadelphia at Fourth and Cherry Sts. was organized by Henry Muhlenberg in 1742.

The first Lutheran pastor to be ordained in America was Justus Falkner whose hymns are still in use in the Common Service Book and Hymnal in local churches. The program closed with one of his hymns, "Rise, Ye Children of Salvation." Readers were Marie Gravatt, Ruth Werkheiser, Viola Learn and Fannie Hay.

Five layettes have been assembled and more garments have been received. Place mats for use at the Kensington Dispensary in Philadelphia were donated. Cymbals and tambourines are needed at the dispensary.

A letter was read from Miss Annie Powell, missionary to Japan who visited the local group last Fall, thanking them

An old Turkish proverb says: "A wise man remembers his friends at all times, a fool only when he is in need of them."

Sunday, May 8th is Mother's Day . . . and this year it crept up on us more stealthily than we of the advertising department care to admit. Easter was gone, like a majestic lady trailing ermine—and HERE was another observance of nation-wide import that we were totally unprepared to meet. Even our president was taken aback, and hurried in to remind us to "keep talking Mother's Day. No one seems to realize how near at hand it is." When he mentioned it, I suddenly realized that the interview recorded with Father George Papadeas at St. Paul's Greek Orthodox Church in Hempstead—an interview devoted to the weeping Madonna icons—is slated for Mother's Day. And it is particularly appropriate.

Strangely enough, no interview I have ever taped has aroused so much comment among people of all faiths. Friday morning I briefly mentioned my visit to St. Paul's and my observations over the air. Since then I have had several telephone calls from men as well as women to ask questions, and to comment upon the interest they, as individuals, feel. I've had letters too. One woman writes, "When I make my next confession I must admit to the sin of envy, for I most sincerely envy your having seen the tears of the Madonna." Another writes, "I commend you for your unbiased appreciation of all religions, as shown so often in your column. This is a mark of the true Christian." Still another writes, "You are the prize idiot of all time." (Perhaps . . . but isn't it wonderful to excel at SOMETHING.)

At least three of my co-workers have told me they listened to WVPO this past Sunday and were disappointed when the program did not take place, they having misunderstood the date . . . and I've even been stopped on the street by strangers who wished to verify the time so they will not miss it. Which brings me to the conclusion that mankind today is hungry for faith, as it has perhaps never hungered before. Many are skeptical about miracles, but would really enjoy being convinced . . . and I am convinced that all who believe in God are more tolerant than ever before of other person's doctrines and beliefs. All of which may actually be an indication that deep inside many of us are scared to death of the spiritual laxity, moral lethargy, and just plain indifference that have settled over us like a shroud these past few decades.

In my interviewing I have met many wonderful people—famous singers, merchants, cosmeticians, commentators, and such. But which personalities were most discussed?—Dr. Norman Vincent Peale when he talked about God . . . Dale Evans Rogers when she talked about the Christian home . . . and now Father Papadeas, who is about to discuss a miracle wrought by God. Maybe there is more hungering and thirsting after righteousness than even our clergy realize. What do you think?

My pal, Betty Bartholomew, spent part of Monday setting up a Mother's Day display on the ledge in front of our mezzanine. Her gift suggestions are charming: a bouffant slip for the young, frivolous mother; candy, jewelry, jewel boxes, milk glass boudoir lamps, a milk glass bowl filled with pink and white carnations (10c each) and valley lilies at 10c and 50c a bunch; a straw floral-bedecked waste paper basket, stationery, and such. Having another bare space to fill, I suggested she set up a few books and cards. "What book?" she asked, as we went over the shelves together. "Well," I finally mused, "Why not 'Two Weeks in Another Town'—that would probably do Mother the most good." I still think I'm right—but the final selections were "The Enemy Within" and "The Holy Bible."

Coin Club Convention Draws 500

THE SECOND annual Coin Club Convention of Northeastern Pennsylvania held last Saturday in the Penn-Stroud Hotel drew more than 500 area numismatic hobbyists to view the interesting exhibits valued at more than $50,000. Forrest R. Smith and Carroll R. All served as co-chairmen of the convention.

A dozen coin dealers from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania had booths at which a lively selling of supplies and coins was noted.

Highlighting the convention was the annual banquet which was a sell-out with 160 in the banquet hall hall room.

Following the banquet an auction was held with 175 lots being offered for sale. Lively and spirited bidding was evidenced with many standing to hear the chant of the auctioneer.

A 1909-SVDB Lincoln Cent in fine condition brought $60. The noted opinion of many old time area collectors was that the hobby of numismatics has grown during recent years.

Bids Will Be Requested Soon On Bangor Sewerage

BANGOR — Walter Warrick, chairman of the sewerage committee, told Bangor Borough Council Monday night that bids for construction of a sewerage system will be requested within the next week.

This will be the second attempt on the part of the Bangor Sewerage Authority to award contracts for construction of the system. Bids received at the March meeting were rejected because of excessive cost.

Warrick also said the authority plans to request separate bids for storm sewers, the construction of the sewerage disposal plant and sanitary sewers.

However, after lengthy discussion, members of council objected to separate bids and requested the authority make an effort to secure combination bids on sanitary and storm sewers.

John Figliole appeared before council relative to an open ditch that has been dug in an alley at the rear of his property between Eighth and Ninth Sts.

The ditch, according to council members, was dug to drain off excessive surface water in the area.

Following the complaint, council instructed its street committee to investigate and correct any damage caused by the borough.

Council adopted a resolution calling for the erection of new traffic light standards at First and Market Sts. pending final approval by the State Highways Dept.

The annual report of Benjamin Albert, fire chief, showed a loss of $74,400 in fires in the Bangor area in the past year.

Council gave final approval for the additional purchase of $3,500 worth of fire fighting equipment at the request of Albert.

The Liberty Fire Co. was named as headquarters for the emergency Civil Defense phone service which will be installed at a cost of approximately $30 a year.

Students elected from Bangor Area Joint High School to serve as borough officials on Student Government Day were introduced to members of council. Remarks were offered by Bruce Jones, student-elected mayor.

In other action, Council took the first steps toward establishing a claim on the one percent wage tax now being enacted by the Bangor School Board.

Council contends it will need these funds to help defray the cost of the construction of storm sewers within the borough.

John L. Williams was the only council member voting against council's declaration to take one-half of the one percent wage tax.

Council elected Chriss Schlemmer as special policeman from a list of applicants which included Thomas Cuono, John Carcione and Roderick Everett.

Lakers Rally To Win: Hold Monroe Loop Lead

POCONO LAKE rallied for four runs in the last inning, to defeat Pocono Twp. 7-6 and held first place in the Monroe Scholastic League.

Bob Wilson's single in the sixth inning scored A. J. Bittner from first to give Barrett a 3-2 win over Coolbaugh. Barrett had won one less game than the Lakers but has not been beaten and is in a virtually first-place tie.

Chestnuthill got its first win of the campaign, knocking Polk further into the cellar, 13-9.

Big Lead

Pocono Twp. held a 5-0 lead for the first two innings. Ron

Phil Vishnesky's fielder's choice scored one run and Hayes' second error of the inning accounted for two more runs. He fielded John Werkeiser's ground and threw wildly to first base, bringing in two runs.

Errors Hurt

Heading into the seventh Tannersville led 6-3. But two quick errors put Laker runners on first and second and Carl Becker walked three straight men to bring in a run and reliever Peter Ask.

Ask got Tom Smith to hit back to the mound. Ask threw home for a force but Bill Beseker's throw to first went into right field scoring two runs and sending Smith to third. Smith scored on a fielder's choice.

Pete Daily struck out 11 Barrett batters and gave up only five hits but two of them were in the sixth inning to give Barrett its winning run.

Score Two

Coolbaugh scored his two runs in the top of the sixth on a triple by Wright driving in Stiff. Stiff scored on Tompey's fielder's choice.

What 'Point' Means

By William A. Doyle
Q. I always thought I knew what a "point" meant in prices of securities. But, after listening to a couple of men talk about stocks and bonds, I am not so sure. What does a point really mean?

William A. Doyle

simply, "at 40" It means that the stock traded at $40 a share.

If XYZ is "up two" (or "up two points") it means that its market price rose $2 a share. And, of course, there are fractions of points. If XYZ common stock sold "at 40 1/4" it means that the stock traded at $40.12 1/2 a share.

However, in bond quotations, a point means $10. That is because bond prices are quoted as a percentage of $1,000. If a bond is quoted "at 90", it means that a market value of $900 has been placed on each $1,000 per (face) value of that bond issue.

An advance, say, from 90 to 93 would mean a rise from $900 to $930 for each $1,000 bond.

If you want to get good and confused, try to get an explanation of the "points," as used in the stock market averages. Those averages are supposed to indicate whether stock prices are up or down. The averages are expressed in "points." But those "points" have little or no relationship to the actual dollar values of the stocks used in calculating the averages.

Q. I am a member of a newly-formed investment club. I think that one of the first things we should do is to learn the meanings of the various terms thrown around by stock brokers, market letters, etc.

Is there any "dictionary" of this type available? If there is, where can we get copies?

A. Yes, there is. The best part about it is that it's a handy little booklet and it's free.

Write to the New York Stock Exchange, P. O. Box 252, New York 5, N. Y. Ask for "The Language of Investing—A Glossary."

All readers who are interested in brushing up on the weird language of Wall Street may send for a copy of that booklet.

Q. I have held some Series E, U. S. savings bonds for over 15 years. One of the reasons I have never cashed them is that I would then be supposed to report my accumulated interest for income tax purposes. A friend informs me that I can now exchange my E bonds for Series H bonds and that I will not have to pay tax on the interest on the E bonds. Is this so?

A. That's all part of the U. S. Treasury Department "exchange offer" to holders of E bonds. You will not be obligated to declare that accumulated interest at the time you swap E bonds for H bonds.

But, when (or if) you redeem the H bonds, you will then be supposed to declare as taxable income the interest accumulated while you held the E bonds. What this boils down to is a method of postponing your tax liability.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Bangor Board Okays Budget For 1960-61

BANGOR — Bangor Borough School Board Monday night adopted a budget of $438,048.55 for the 1960-61 school year. This was an increase over the 1959-60 budget.

The increase was due to two items: a rental fee of $47,474 for the new high school and $8,500 fee for the collection of the new one percent wage tax.

The board reported that they were no longer in debt and that all the property was free and clear.

Other action saw the passing of resolutions to adopt a 16 mill tax, which is the same as last year; a $5 per capita tax, which was lowered from last year's $15; and approving the one percent earned income tax.

William Bakwill was sworn in as a member of the board and was made chairman of the committee to investigate the setting up of a wage tax collection office for the borough.

Mrs. Shirley Matlock was re-elected as treasurer of the school district and at her request had her salary reduced from $50 a year to $1 a year.

Lehigh Consistory Cards Meet For Tomorrow Night

THE ANNUAL spring reunion of Lehigh Consistory, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, will be held at the Masonic Temple, Allentown, on the first two Saturdays in May. Sessions on both May 7 and May 14 will be conducted with more than 260 delegates receiving the 32nd Degree on the final day.

Annual spring and fall classes usually take the name of a prominent area Mason, but the class this spring will be known as "The Norristown Section Honor Class" because of the great interest shown in the craft in that community. Some 78 residents of the Norristown area will be in the class.

John S. Cole, Easton, commander of Lehigh Consistory will open the May 14 sessions at 9 a.m., immediately after which the class elects its officers. That evening a service will be held in memory of the late Owen W. Metzger, first commander of Lehigh Consistory, who died March 9.

The first day's sessions will open at 8:45 a.m. and continue until closing at 9:30 p.m. The morning session will be in charge of David Stoddard of Bangor; the afternoon, Rev. William D. Moser of Pennsylvania; and the evening, Walter M. Carwithen, Jr., of Doylestown.

William H. A. Williams, Allentown, is secretary of Lehigh Consistory. Orrin E. Boyle, Allentown, is an active member of the supreme council of the northern Masonic jurisdiction of the United States.

Stroudsburg Firemen Oust Fire

STRODSBURG firemen yesterday put out a fire in several mattresses at the home of George Van Gorder, 93 N. Second St.

The alarm was turned in at 4:17 p.m. and the trucks responded. Firemen needed smoke masks to assist in extinguishing the blaze from the dense smoke.

It was reported that a child playing with matches caused the fire.

Firemen reported one of the mattresses was started and the other two caught when the first was moved to a window to throw it from the house.

Some slight damage was caused to plaster and paint in the hall of the home, but no other damage was reported.
